

Proceq DY-225

Measuring the pull-off strength of applied coatings on composite materials

Proceq's DY-225 is often used to accurately determine the pull-off strength of the applied coatings on composite materials. Some common applications in the flooring and repair industries are the determination of the strength of the gluing parts on composites, adhesive strength on tiles, anchors pull-off strength and many more.

Example of gluing parts.

- Go to product website
- Contact us