Proceq DY-225

Using pull-off testing according to GOST 22690

In accordance with Russian standard GOST 22690 for non-destructive testing of concrete strength, engineers must use two methods together - for example the rebound hammer or the ultrasonic method together with the pull-off testing method. A Proceq construction industry customer in Russia has been using the Proceq DY-225 for testing concrete cores.